"Finger Printing" Reveals
New York Postal Employees
Have Criminal Records,
Bartlett Reports to Harding.

WILL VISIT CHICAGO

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Discovery through "finger printing" that 49 of the 360 employees of the registry division of the New York postoffice had criminal records was reported to President Harding today by Acting Postmaster General Bartlett, upon his return from an investigation of New York.

The acting postmaster general told the press the discovery came during his inquiry into the arrest last Thursday of several employees of the office, which arrest, postal officials asserted, cleared up postal robberies extending over the last six months, and involving nearly $2,000,000.

The arrests also were said to have thwarted a significant robbery planned for last Friday night for the registry division.

Mr. Bartlett declared the men arrested had admitted that they secured employment in the registry division for the purpose of robbing the mails.

Urges System Adopted.
Mr. Bartlett said he had ordered that all the 15,000 employees of the New York office be required to have "finger prints" made. Both Postmaster Morgan and himself were "fingerprinted," and he was of the opinion that such a step would be of benefit to the service, eliminating the untrustworthy and protecting the great bulk of honest employees.

Mr. Bartlett will return to New York the latter part of the week to conclude his investigation, after which it was said to be likely that he would visit the Chicago postoffice where numerous thefts, it was said, had occurred recently in the registry and mail order divisions.

CONNERSVILLE READY TO GREET DELEGATES TO STATE SESSION

CONNERSVILLE, Ind., May 23.—Preparations for receiving hundreds of delegates to the state encampment of the G. A. R., scheduled to be held here May 23, 24 and 25, were virtually complete Tuesday when hundreds of delegates from all parts of the state began to arrive. Officials of the order were to come in at noon on a special train from Indianapolis and were to be met at the depot by a delegation of citizens and a number of bands and bugle corps. Daylight fireworks, factory whistles and church and school bells were to join in making this one of the most memorable receptions Connerville has accorded a visiting delegation in years.

The Mettel building is headquarters for information, housing and registration services, and will be the center of interest for delegates until they have received their official badges.

50 From Richmond
About 50 Richmond members of the Sons of Veterans and the Ladies' Auxiliary made up a delegation which was expected to arrive Tuesday. Official delegates of the order were: Robert Asbury, Robert C. Martin, Russell Kinsey, Perry Williams, Joseph Pyle and R. L. Babylon, in addition, Lawrence Handley, William Hansche and George Matthews, past commanders, planned to attend.

A notable feature of the parade at Connerville is the fact that the Richmond bugle corps of the Sons of Veterans is to head the parade which starts at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The Richmond corps will hold a practice parade on the streets of Richmond Tuesday evening. This is the first public appearance of the corps and the public will have an opportunity to see how they appear at Connerville Wednesday.

An interesting feature of the corps is the fact that the drums for the organization were made by members under the supervision of Carl Jessup, chief drummer.

The roster of the Sons of Veterans Bugle Corps William P. Benton Camp, No. 28, follows:

Corp officers: Bert Davenport, president; Russell Kinsey, secretary and treasurer; Members: This is the Kinsey, captain; Amos E. Jenkins, assistant captain; Carl Jessup, chief drummer; E. R. Plans of "Big Three" to Obtain Freedom Fail Again—
Judge Scanlon Continues Hearings

CRIMES FLARE UP AGAIN

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, May 23.—Plans of "Big Three," Fred Barker, Fred Barker and Con Shea, the "big three" labor leaders under murder indictments in connection with recent murders and bombings failed today again in their efforts to obtain freedom when Judge Kichham Scanlon for the third time continued hearings at which the defense sought to have a trial date set.

Judge Scanlon's action was taken when the state again announced that new indictments against the men would be returned by the grand jury soon, possibly today.

Favor Extra Police
Meanwhile, the plea of Charles C. Fitzmorris, chief of police, for 1,000 more members for the Chicago police force, gained force with statements from civic leaders and early today it was claimed sufficient aldermanic votes were assured to put through an emergency measure this afternoon appropriating funds to pay six months' salaries for these additional policemen.

The crime wave, virtually dormant so far as the usual run of police cases is concerned since the concentrated drive against the alleged vicious labor leaders was undertaken, flared up again yesterday and last night. Numerous robberies and attacks by apparently feeble minded persons were reported.

REPUBLICANS SHOW MOST INTEREST IN DRAFTING PLATFORM

(By Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, May 23.—Republican leaders gathered here today for the opening tomorrow of the party's state convention centered attention on the platform, with a view to ironing out any differences of opinion, so that no fight would develop in the convention on the party's stand on the direct primary or other campaign issues.

With the convention facing only one contest for the 10 nominations that will be made for state offices, interest hinged almost entirely on the platform.

All candidates however, had opened headquarters but these were merely meeting places for the early arrivals. Senator James E. Watson, who will deliver the keynote address at the opening of the convention arrived from Washington and Senator Harry S. New was expected later in the day.

Few of the congressmen, however, were expected to leave Washington and John P. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee, had announced he would be unable to come to Indianapolis.

The contest for the nomination of clerk of the supreme court was attracting more than ordinary attention because it was the only race for a state office, both Patrick J. Lynch seeking renomination and his opponent, Henry A. Roberts, former state statistician were busy among the early arriving delegates.

While the platform to be submitted to the convention will be framed by the resolution committee organized tomorrow night, preparatory work was being done by party leaders, and probable members of the committee.

THICK FOG HAMPERED
RESCUE AFTER WRECK,
SURVIVORS DECLARE

(By Associated Press)
BREST, France, May 23.—The British vice-consul here today announced that 102 of those who were on board the British steamer Egypt sunk off the island of Ushant Sunday night are missing, of whom 16 were passengers and 86 members of the crew.

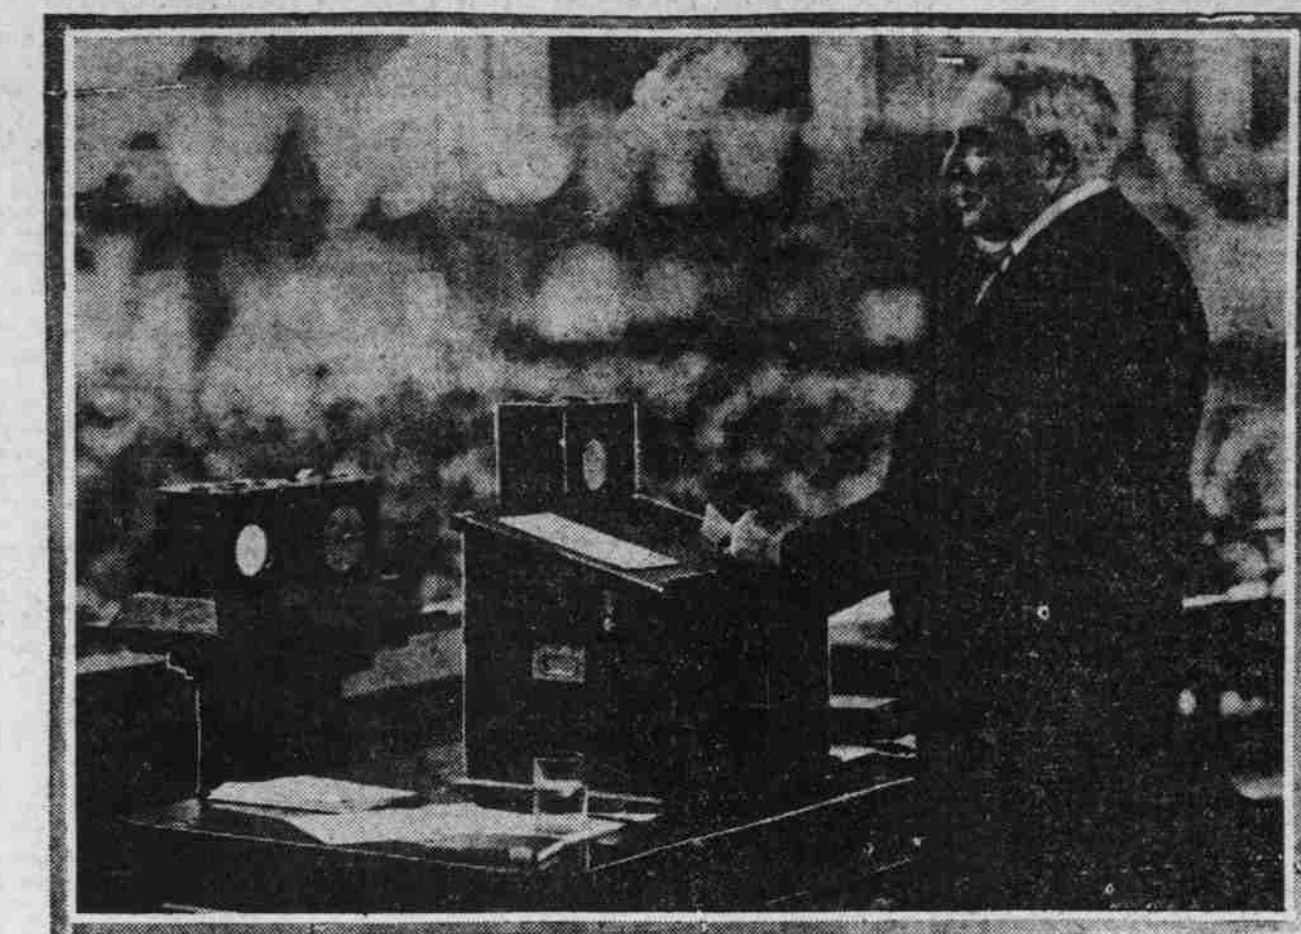

Twenty-eight passengers were saved, together with 284 members of the crew. Mrs. K. L. Sibley and Miss V. M. Boyer, American missionaries, are among those missing and presumed lost. Many of the dead brought in boats wearing life belts; they had evidently died from exhaustion.

The fog was so thick off Ushant island at the collision between the steamer and the French freighter Seine that the inhabitants of the islands in the region have been living for three days in almost complete darkness with all outdoor work suspended. The sudden rise in temperature in northern France is given as the reason for the unusually heavy fog.

Fogs Hamper Rescue
Accounts of the disaster given by survivors and the captain's reports indicate that the loss of life would have been much smaller had not the fog been so thick as to hamper the rescuers. Sailors on the French steamer declared they observed several struggles between survivors for places of safety on pieces of wreckage.

The survivors' accounts indicate that everything possible was done by the officers and crews of the two vessels to prevent loss of life, except in the cases of a few Indian seamen who lost their heads and fought for life belts and places in the boats.

A nun, Sister Rhoda, whose name in private life was Miss E. R. McNellie, refused to take a place offered her in a boat, saying, "Give it to another." She was last seen kneeling in prayer on the Egypt's deck.

CITIZENS WILL TRY TO APPREHEND-BOMB
PLOTTER IN GEORGIA

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Ga., May 23.—Residents of this city will hold a mass meeting tonight to formulate plans for apprehending the bomb plotters who continue to threaten the lives of Mayor J. Homer Dimon and City Manager H. Gordon Hinkle after blowing in the front of the mayor's home Sunday morning following anonymous demands for the resignation of the two officials.

On the heels of the authorization of rewards totalling $10,000 by the city and county commissioners for evidence leading to the person or persons responsible for the outrage, another anonymous letter and postcard, the latter signed "K. K. K.," reiterating the threats against the two officials, were received by the mayor last night. Referring to the bomb explosion as "mostly a warning" and showing "what we are going to do to you," the letter advised the mayor to "act at once," adding "it will be too late for you when you find out who we are." The postcard was sent as a "last warning" and said "you and Hinkle must go and go at once."

Denial that the Ku Klux Klan had any knowledge of the postcard received by the mayor was made in a statement issued last night by W. F. Whitehead, a reputed leader in the local organization of the Klan, who said it was squarely behind the officials for the enforcement of law and order.

SEARCH FOR 2 MEN
DECLARED PRESENT
NIGHT OF SLAYING

(By Associated Press)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 23.—Search for two men known only as "Ross" and "Jack" declared by Walter S. Ward, of New Rochelle, N. Y., to have been present when he shot and killed Clarence Peters of Haverhill, Mass., near here the night of May 15 was continued by Westchester county officials today.

Ward after confessing he had killed a member of a gang that had blackmailed him for $30,000 and then attempted to get $75,000 more went to New York last night in company with officers and conducted a search of reports where he declared the men wanted might be found.

It was an unsuccessful quest. Ward who is the son of the president of the Ward Baking company is at liberty on a bail bond of $30,000.

He was accompanied to New York by Sheriff George J. Werner and four deputies, who were joined by two New York city detectives. Using a list made up by Ward the party went into cabarets, restaurants and cafes in the white light district and scrutinized every man present. When the search along Broadway and its side streets failed, Ward, with Sheriff Werner and the others spent several hours on the lower East Side, but no men fitting the descriptions of the two men sought could be found.

Ross Confidence Man
The sheriff said that Ross was a confidence man of the highest caliber, while Jack the only name the other of the trio is known by, was more of the type of a chauffeur. He added that Ross was the better dresser of the gang and was about 25 years old.

The basis for the blackmail plot remains unrevealed as the lawyers representing Ward decline to make public any of the bundle of letters given them by Ward, which he received in the six weeks he was being threatened.

The telephone call which resulted in the meeting by Ward of the men on the day of the killing, was said to have been the threat by Peters "we want $75,000 or your life will pay."

This is the threat in the only letter disclosed. Sheriff Werner said that he had received threatening letters with a demand for that sum.

When Elwood E. Rabenold, counsel for Ward, was asked if there was a woman in the case he answered: "The threats were aimed at his family."

Allen R. Campbell another of the lawyers was asked of the blackmail plot involved a woman and answered: "I don't think I should answer that question."

"Did it start as reported at a race track?"

"Did it involve Ward's war record?"

"I can assure you that it did not," answered Mr. Campbell.

Mrs. Ward said that she had not known of the plot for very long and added: "I am with my husband and I want to do everything I can for him. I have the utmost confidence in him. I am sorry that I can not answer further questions."

Much surprise is displayed in New Rochelle that Ward waited for almost a week before surrendering himself, especially as he was known as a strict disciplinarian in his position as chairman of the board of police commission. Ward has lived in New Rochelle since 1911, when he came from Pittsburgh. He was appointed head of the police commission in 1919 and only two weeks ago was re-elected at the reorganization of the board.

District Attorney Weeks said that the case would be submitted to the grand jury the latter part of next week.

SELECT GRAND JURY TO CONSIDER ALLEGED FRAUDS IN CONTRACTS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Selection of the special grand jury to consider alleged frauds in connection with government war contracts, provision for which was made in the bill recently passed by congress, appropriating $500,000 to cover costs of prosecuting persons alleged to have been involved in frauds was begun today with the prospect that the jury would be completed by tomorrow night.

In that case, district Attorney Gordon announced that he hoped to have the jury ready to consider evidence which already has been placed in his hands, by the last of the week.

The jury will devote itself mainly to consideration of war fraud cases, and every means have been taken, the district attorney said, to expedite its action, with trial speedily to follow any indictments brought.

CHILD LABOR LAW
COMES UP AGAIN;
ASKS AMENDMENT

PALLADIUM NEWS BUREAU
WASHINGTON, May 23.—The United States supreme court having again declared child labor legislation unconstitutional, this subject is to be reopened in congress.

Representative Roy G. Fitzgerald, of the Ohio district, launched the movement recently by introducing a resolution for a constitutional amendment prohibiting child labor. His measure is assured the support of the majority. The 1920 Republican platform declares explicitly that in case "the present law is found unconstitutional or ineffective, we shall seek other means to enable congress to prevent the evils of child labor."

The Republican nominee for United States senator from Indiana, Mr. Beveridge, during his last service in the senate, encountered strong opposition in his fight for child labor legislation. Southern interests which employed many children were his principal opponents. Investigations disclosed the fact that lots of nine and 10 years were being worked long night shifts by southern mill owners. State authorities were either powerless or indifferent to cope with the evil and it was felt that only by a mandatory federal law could the root of the condition be reached.

The Beveridge law was finally enacted, September 1, 1916. Upon petition of North Carolina mill owners the constitutionality of this first child protection law was taken to the supreme court of the nation and it was declared unconstitutional after being in operation only 273 days.

Second Law Falls
The second law to prohibit child labor, which has just met in the supreme court the same fate that befell its predecessor, was enacted Feb. 25, 1919. It was in the form of an amendment to the revenue bill. It attempted to end child labor by means of a 10 per cent tax upon the net profits of any business employing children under conditions prohibited by the former law. This measure also was thrown into the courts on the initiative of North Carolina mill owners.

The children's bureau of the department of labor, created during the Taft administration, has done much to awaken public opinion to the importance of protecting children from exploitation by certain business interests, and at times the existence of this bureau has been threatened. At the same time the movement to prohibit child labor has been continually furthered in the states. There are now 42 states having minimum age laws prohibiting the employment of children under fourteen years. Thirty states have laws prohibiting children from working over 8 hours a day. Forty states have laws forbidding the employment of children under 16 years in night work.

ARREST 300
SINN FEINERS

Greatest Raid in Recent History of Ireland Carried out—
Every town and Village Visited.

WILL BE INTERNED

[BULLETIN]
BELFAST, May 23.—It was officially stated at 4 o'clock this afternoon that 300 Sinn Feiners had been taken prisoner by the Ulster authorities and that they would be interned.

BELFAST, May 23.—The greatest raid in the recent history of Ireland was carried out early today when swarms of police swept through Ulster and rounded up 300 Sinn Feiners, the majority of whom were Irish Republican army officers.

The northern government's action was taken, it was stated, in an effort to suppress not only the Irish Republican army and the Irish Republican brotherhood, but all other Sinn Fein organizations in the six-county areas.

The government's move follows swiftly upon Irish Republican army raids and burning of buildings in the counties of Down and Antrim and the intensified hostilities in Belfast recently, culminating in the murder yesterday of W. J. Twaddell, member of the Ulster parliament.

Every Town Visited
Nearly every town and village in Ulster was visited, but the bulk of the prisoners was taken in the country districts from farmhouses. Comparatively few captures were made in Belfast, as most of the Irish Republican army men living in the Sinn Fein districts of Belfast, anticipating action by the police as a result of the Twaddell assassination, had gone "on the run."

The captures included Capal Healy, member of the Fermanagh county council and prominent Sinn Fein leader in that district; Thomas Corrigan, accountant for the Fermanagh county council; Samuel Sheridan, chairman of the recently dissolved Newry board of guardians, and Eugene McGilligan, county councillor, who was the Sinn Fein candidate in North Derry at the last general election.

Reports Exaggerated
The early estimates of the number of prisoners taken ran as high as 1,500, but these proved to be greatly exaggerated, and officials expressed belief that up to this noon the total had not exceeded 300. In Belfast particularly the number of Irish Republican army men caught fell far below the early estimate.

The big encircling movement was begun at about four o'clock and the work of visiting the various houses, town and country, was rapidly carried out. Several hundred members of the constabulary and a large staff of officers were on duty from midnight completing the arrangements. Most of those wanted were completely surprised and in nearly every instance were aroused from sleep.

As part of the comprehensive scheme embracing all of Ulster the special police were active in Fermanagh during the night and early morning, arresting every Sinn Feiner known to be an officer or to have authority in the ranks of the Irish republican army. Only about sixty Irish Republican army officers were captured in Fermanagh, but it is learned the authorities are making a fairly clean sweep of the men who exercised influence in the ranks of the army in that part of Ulster.

Leaders Arrested
Among those arrested in Enniskillen was Captain Healy, a member of the Fermanagh county council, and well known leader of the Sinn Fein party in that district; W. J. Nethercot, a member of the Enniskillen urban council and Thomas Corrigan, accountant for the Fermanagh county council.

While the raids were going on, tenders were being sent to the special police and their prisoners from the outlying districts.

In Belfast, 52 were arrested but these did not include any well known party leaders while the Falls road section, with its big republican population, was entirely unrepresented.

Absence of the republicans from their homes is ascribed to anticipation of reprisals for the assassination of W. J. Twaddell, member of the Ulster parliament.
